

Talking About Jane

Talking About Jane is a rare compilation of all four memoirs from Jane Austen's family members. It consists of recollections, biographical notes, and preserved letters by Jane's beloved niece Anna Lefroy and favorite brother Henry Austen. Also included are My Aunt Jane Austen. A Memoir, by Jane's niece, and A Memoir of Jane Austen by Jane's nephew James-Edward Austen-Leigh. Readers will be delighted with descriptive snippets such as Her complexion [was] of that rare sort which seems the peculiar property of light brunettes...[with] bright hazel eyes to match, and the rather small but well shaped nose--Anna Lefroy. Though Jane Austen's life has always been a bit mysterious, Talking About Jane will undoubtedly make readers feel like they know Jane Austen a little bit more as they see her through her family's eyes. Talking About Jane is a truly a treasure unearthed.
