

Within the velvety Tuscan sky, a harvest moon glows like liquid amber. Mysterious shadows seep noxiously through the unsuspecting forest, preying on the vulnerable, whose blinded gaze mocks their senses. A man. A woman. Forever locked in a sensual embrace. A werewolf howls... A cloak swishes... And, Alabaster flesh waits to be torn. Timing is everything in the Danse Macabre. On this night the nectar of revenge is at its sweetest. Just ask Vipunin... Who is Vipunin? A tormented soul, longing to recapture the life stolen from him a century ago when he was human, not a monster who hunts and feasts at will. His wait is finally over. His love, Ciassia, has returned to him. She is his to change this night. Then she will be by his side for eternity... Or so he thinks... Set in a Tuscan forest in the late 16th century, against a backdrop of treed mountains and gentle vineyards, this classic vampire tale begins a sweeping saga to enthrall any reader who loves the beautiful, deadly vampires of old.
